Compendium Computational Theology

Vol. I: Purpose. Research Practices in the Digital Humanities

1. Preface (Prof. Dr. Michael Gertz; Prof. Dr. Friederike Nüssel; Prof. Dr. Helmut Schwier)
2. Introduction (Dr. Christopher Nunn / PD Dr. Frederike van Oorschot)
    a. Purpose and Definition
        - The Genesis of Computational Humanities in Distinction to the Digital Humanities (Prof. Dr. Michael Piotrowski)
        - Doing Theology with Videogames: Insights for Computational Theology (Dr. Erin Raffety)
        - Computational Theology. Definition and Best Practices (Dr. Christopher Nunn)

3. Research Activities of Digital Humanities
    a. Multimedia Access of Digital Humanities
        - Texts (Prof. Dr. Daniel Stökl Ben Ezra)
        - Images (Prof. Dr. Hubertus Kohle)
        - Audio (Prof. Dr. Christof Weiß)
        - Video / Film (Prof. Dr. Manuel Burghardt et al.)

    b. Forms of Digital Text Analysis
        - Python or R? Getting Started with Programming for Humanists (Dr. William Mattingly)
        - Discourse Analysis (Prof. Dr. Alexander Lasch)
        - Named Entity Recognition (Prof. Dr. Evelyn Gius)
        - Sentiment Analysis (Dr. Rachele Sprugnoli)
        - Topic Modelling (Melanie Althage)
        - Intertextuality (Jun.-Prof. Dr. Julia Nantke)
        - Network Analysis (Dr. Caitlin Burge)
        - Stylistic Analysis (Dr. Christopher Nunn)
        - Spatial Analysis (Prof. Dr. Matthew Wilkens)
        - Information Visualization (Dr. Janelle Peters)
        - Digital Editions (Dr. Annette von Stockhausen)

    c. Dissemination
        - Science Communication and Community Building (Prof. Dr. Ulrike Wuttke)
        - Open AI: Computer-aided text production in teaching and research (Johanna Gröpler; Margret Mundorf; Dr. Nicolaus Wilder)
        - Research Data Management (Dr. Jochen Apel)
        - Virtual Research Environments (Prof. Dr. Caroline Schroeder)
        - Reviewing Digital Resources (Jun.-Prof. Dr. Ulrike Henny-Krahmer)
        - Transformation of conventional research environments and publication forms (Dr. Clifford Anderson)

Vol. II: Digital Humanities in Theological Research and Teaching

1. Introduction
    a. Epistemological and Hermeneutical Implications
        - Transforming Humanities through Digital Humanities (N.N.)
        - A New Way of Theological Research? Epistemological and Hermeneutical Interpretations (PD Dr. Frederike van Oorschot)

2. Digital Humanities in Theological Research Disciplines
    a. Old Testament (Dr. Annemarie Frank)
    b. New Testament (Prof. Dr. Soham Al-Suadi)
    c. Christian Archaeology (Prof. Dr. Ute Verstegen)
    d. Early Church History (Prof. Dr. Ulrich Volp)
    e. Medieval and Modern Church History (Prof. Dr. Ueli Zahnd)
    f. Dogmatics (PD Dr. Frederike van Oorschot)
    g. Ethics (Prof. Dr. Thorsten Moos)
    h. Religious Studies (Prof. Dr. Anna Neumaier)
    i. Intercultural Theology (Dr. Matthew Robinson)
    j. Homiletics (Selina Fucker)
    k. Religious Education (Prof. Dr. Ilona Nord)
    l. Church Sociology (Prof. Dr. Georg Lämmlin)
    m. Pastoral Theology (Jun.-Prof. Dr. Annette Haußmann)
    n. Diaconic Studies (Dr. Thomas Renkert)
    o. Cross-Cutting Issues
        - Digital Religion (Prof. Dr. Thomas Schlag)
        - Digital Education (Friederike Wenisch)
        - Teaching DH in theological classes (Ludger Hiepel)
        - Ecclesiastical Law (Prof. Dr. Andreas Thier)

4. Resume of the Editors (Dr. Christopher Nunn; PD Dr. Frederike van Oorschot)

5. Outlook

    a. The Future of Digital Humanities (N.N.)
    b. Outlook – Theological Research of the Future (Prof. Dr. Dr. hc mult. Christoph Markschies)